- 'Production-designed' in the real world of broadcast television
- Easy to assemble and use

The VERSA PAK setup is far more flexible than any other mobile control facility in the industry. Construction and tear-down is faster and more efficient and each individual modular unit can be reconfigured to personalize every system component to best meet the specific needs of the venue. As part of its multi-year contract to provide broadcast facilities to The French Open, VER was able to update the Roland Garros broadcast-cabin compound with new technologies and new approaches to furniture design, namely, a full installation of new VERSA PAK modular systems.
